

Lucio Fontana au Musée d'art moderne – mai 14

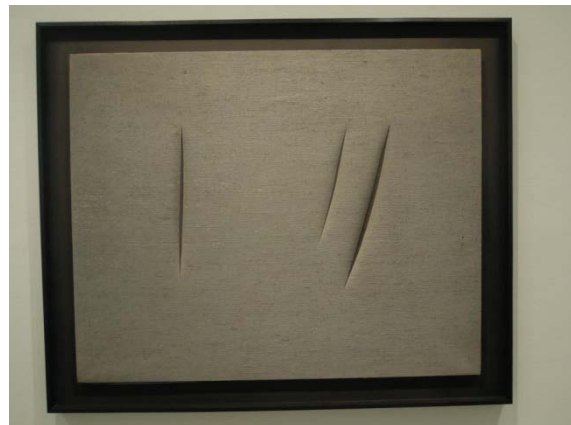

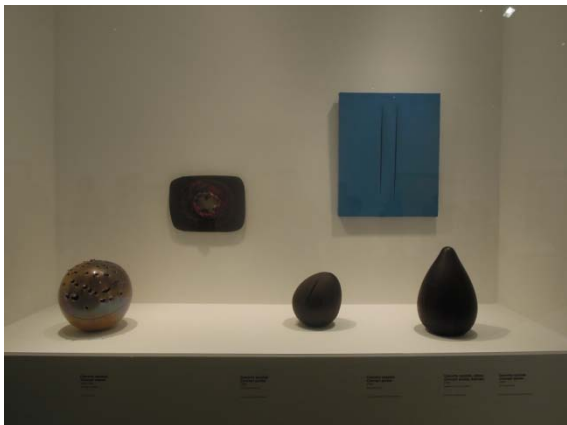

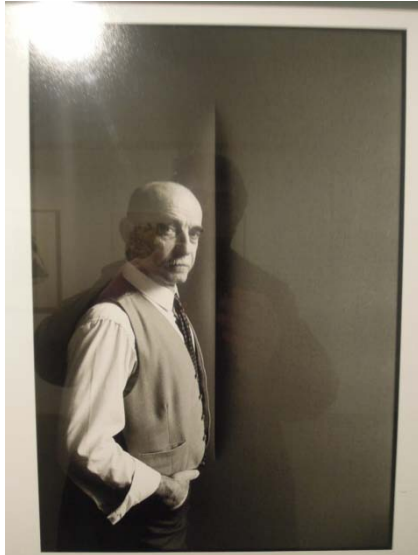

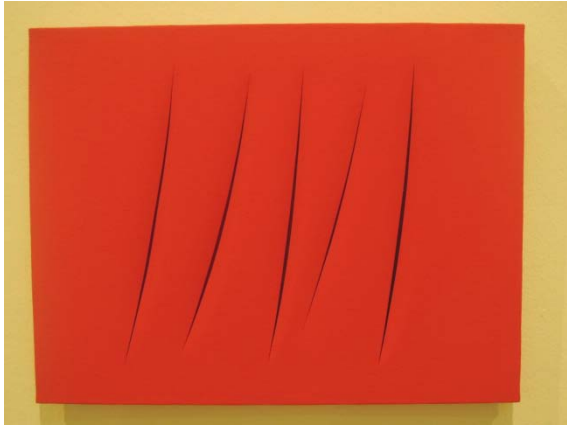

Quand je m'assois devant une de mes fentes, à la contempler, j'éprouve soudainement une grande détente de l'esprit, je me sens un homme libéré de l'esclavage de la matière, un homme qui appartient à l'étendue du présent et du futur.

When I'm sitting in front of one of my cuts, contemplating it, I suddenly feel a great relaxation of the spirit. I feel like a man freed from the slavery of the material world, a man who belongs to the expanse of the present and to the future.

Quando io mi siedo davanti a uno dei miei tagli, a contemplarlo, provo all'improvviso una grande distensione dello spirito, mi sento un uomo liberato dalla schiavitù della materia, un uomo che appartiene alla vastità del presente e del futuro.

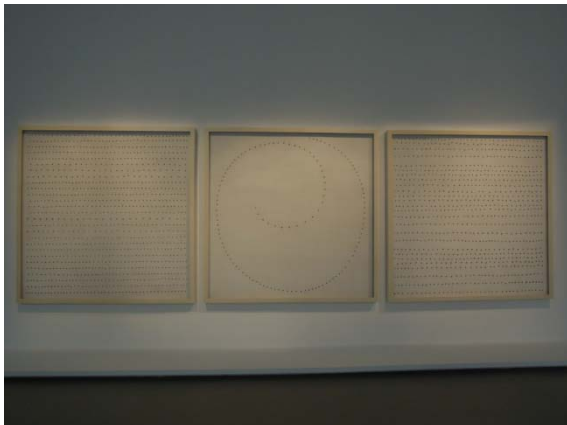

La lune à Venise

La place Saint-Marc sous le Soleil

Tatiana Prouvé

Delphine Coindet : cosmos

Bernard Dufour

Raymond Masson

Ben

Robert Filliou

Philippe Parreno

